SUBJECT:

Choke Cable Failure

MODELS:

Austin America

Investigation into the high incidence of failure of Austin America choke cables indicates that the majority of claims for this component are due to bent inner cable/knob shafts and not the result of a manufacturing defect.

In view of this, all dealers are requested to automatically return all displaced choke cables to your Distributor with the claim to confirm a manufacturing defect.

Any cables received with damaged or bent knob/shafts will be subject to automatic rejection.
